EXECUTIVE SEARCH PLACEMENT

Arts Consulting Group congratulates Julie Woffington who has been appointed Executive Director of the Educational Theatre Association after a national search conducted by ACG.

Previously a Managing Director at Procter & Gamble with twenty years of business, marketing and management experience, Woffington has been performing in theatre since she was ten years old. As an undergraduate at Duke she managed a summer theatre camp for children and worked at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. She is active in Cincinnati community theatre as an actor, director, and producer, and serves on the board of trustees of the Cincinnati Arts Association.

"I believe in the power of theatre to go beyond entertainment to encourage discussion, to move people emotionally, and to build the self-esteem of all who are involved, especially children," Woffington said. "This is the perfect opportunity for me to merge my twenty years of business and leadership experience with my personal passion for theatre."

She was the board's "unanimous and enthusiastic" choice from among a field of approximately one hundred applicants," said Board President Debby Gibbs. "What is remarkable, beyond Julie's outstanding qualifications as a leader, is that she is an individual who has been shaped for success by her background in educational theatre. She is living evidence of one of our core values."

"I am enormously grateful to everyone who participated in this process," said current Executive Director Michael Peitz. "The board, the search committee, the chapter directors, the senior staff, and the team at Arts Consulting Group all did their part to bring us to this result. It gives me great pleasure to welcome Julie to the EdTA family."
